

A WEEK IN Learning

L&D RECOMMENDATIONS

for TED Talks, podcasts, books, and more!

NAVIGATING YOUR PASSION, PURPOSE, AND POTENTIAL

Podcast Recommended by Larry Van Wave, Manager, Learning Technology

Imagine taking a trip to an unfamiliar destination without the guidance of a smartphone map. It's easy to get lost without some form of assistance to ensure you're heading in the right direction. Similarly, Goodwill's My Career Matters career coaches exist to guide team members on their career journeys. However, there aren't enough coaches to reach everyone daily—at least not yet.

In the meantime, I highly recommend tuning in to The Ken Coleman Show. Recognized as America's Career Coach, Ken's daily podcasts serve as a compass for listeners, navigating the workplace details, helping them discover their passions and purposes, and strategically advancing in their professional lives. Ken even takes calls from listeners and occasionally features interviews with inspiring individuals.

Whether you're searching for direction, looking for a career shift, or striving to maximize your potential, adding The Ken Coleman Show to your podcast library is a positive step toward gaining the clarity, confidence, and courage required to fulfill your unique purpose.

Click each link below for more information

Let us know what you thought of this week's content.

Read more about this recommendation.

Learn more about the L and D team.

To view this Week in Learning, and more, please visit: <https://gwl-az.org/WIL>

